

Ship Retaken; 2 Marines Die

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last remaining Marines on the Cambodian island of Koh Tang were evacuated today following the rescue of the American merchant ship Mayaguez, a White House source reported.

Two Marines were killed and at least eight others wounded in the helicopter assault against Koh Tang, an island about 30 miles from the Cambodian mainland, according to Pentagon casualty reports.

U.S. fighter planes and Navy destroyers continued attacks on the island to cover the helicopter evacuation of the Marines, who were reported by Pentagon officials to be receiving smallarms fire from Khmer Rouge troops.

As darkness fell, helicopters continued plucking the Marines from their island beachhead and flew them to the aircraft carrier Coral Sea.

About 12 hours before, some 290 Marines recovered the U.S. merchant vessel Mayaguez and began the helicopter assault against the island.

At a predawn news conference, Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger called the operation "eminently successful."

The Pentagon chief spoke about 3½ hours after President Ford gave a one-minute nationally televised and broadcast speech saying the operation had been a success.

Schlesinger said some U.S. Marines had been killed during the attack on Koh Tang Island where the ship had been anchored.

He gave no details of the casualties or other losses, but another spokesman said at least two helicopters had been downed.

The Mayaguez crewmen were apparently uninjured and the same spokesman said their condition was "apparently pretty good."

Schlesinger told reporters the significance of the armed action went far beyond the actual situation.

"It represents a much needed and timely affirmation of the freedom of the seas and peaceful transit," he said.

"Moreover, it represents a firm and measured response to the high-handed and crude use of force. To countenance such an act would mean the weakening of international order and civilized communication," Schlesinger added.

The test of the American attitude began last Monday when the Mayaguez was seized en route from Hong Kong to Thailand.

The answer was given in Ford's speech delivered just after midnight.

"At my direction, United States forces tonight (Wednesday night) boarded the American merchant ship S. S. Mayaguez and landed at the island of Koh Tang for the purpose of rescuing the crew and ship which had been illegally seized by Cambodian forces," Ford said.

"I have now received information that the vessel has been recovered intact and that the entire crew has been rescued."

He got that word about 11:15 p.m. EDT, when Schlesinger phoned to say that a fishing boat manned by Thais and flying white flags had turned over the American crewmen to the U.S. destroyer Wilson.

It was unclear early today how the men were released or where they had been held when the attacks began.

Pentagon spokesman Joseph Laitin said the freighter was empty when the Marines landed, but warm food was found in the ship's galley.

The 40 crew members were put back on board the Mayaguez today as the ship was towed from the area to resume its trip to Thailand.

The operation, the first use of American combat forces in Southeast Asia since 1973, involved more than 250 Marines, an undisclosed number of warplanes, a carrier and two destroyers. The rescue was completed about five hours after Ford ordered the attack.

In that time, helicopters flying from Thailand landed somewhat less than 250 Marines on the island where it was thought the crew was held prisoner. The destroyer U.S.S. Holt lashed onto the Mayaguez and 40 more Marines swung on board the cargo ship.

Warplanes screamed overhead and began strafing Cambodian positions on the island when the Marines ran into stiff opposition.

When it was feared that Cambodian planes stationed at an airbase on the mainland near the port of Sihanoukville might interfere, U.S. military commanders ordered the base attacked from the air.

The President's decision to make direct and strong use of the military came after the administration decided that attempts to use diplomatic channels had failed and that the Cambodians would not back down.

Administration sources said Ford allowed three days to pass without attacking the Cambodians in order to remove any opportunity for Congressional critics to charge him with recklessness.

Emergency Medical Team Will Be Operational By Late June

EMERGENCY VEHICLE — Circleville Mayor Frank Barnhill gets the keys to Circleville's new emergency vehicle in return for a check for $20,400 from the Horton Co., Columbus. Others in the picture are John Adkins, president of the Emergency Medical Team, and councilmen Harold Hoffman, Tom Wells, Joe Bell, David Goldschmidt, and David Crawford.

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

With the delivery Wednesday of a new emergency vehicle, Circleville's Emergency Medical Team hopes to be operational by mid or late June, according to John Adkins, president of the EMT.

The Chevrolet Cheyenne vehicle, was purchased by Circleville city council for $20,400 from the Horton Co., Columbus, was the biggest hurdle to date in the life of the year-old team of volunteers who will offer emergency treatment services to residents of the city at no charge.

But the EMT, which mushroomed from a handful of volunteers called together by Adkins last July to a force of 41 trained medical technicians, still has some obstacles to overcome.

Needed before the team is road-ready are certain, specific medical merchandise and a base-to-vehicle communications device.

The team will be soliciting donations from individuals to raise the $5,000 needed to fully equip the vehicle.

The EMT has several other problems, all minor according to Adkins, to solve. But none will affect the capabilities of the technicians who will operate the vehicle as a mobile extension of a hospital emergency room.

One of the problems is a base location for the team.

It was originally thought that the medical technicians and the vehicle would be based at Berger Hospital, specifically in a steel storage building located on the rear of hospital property.

But the building won't house the vehicle, according to Adkins, without extensive modification. And that modification costs money, something the EMT lacks, and firm authorization from the hospital's Board of Governors.

The ideal arrangement would require expanding from 10 to 11 feet the ceiling to floor joist span for the recommended overhead doors in the building.

Other types of doors could be used, but they would need added support from the free standing front by means of modifications to the superstructure of the building.

While the unit is distinctly non-hospital, according to Adkins, its purpose is distinctly medical. The hospital environment would be ideally suited for the unit because the crew would receive intellectual stimulation just from the surroundings.

However, "the important point is not where it's kept," Adkins said, "but the latitude the crew would have to operate under. We can do our job from any location."

But Adkins said the hospital would be possibly the best location due primarily to long range planning by the unit.

Ultimately, when funds are available and the ancillary annex is completed at Berger, the emergency medical team would like to install telemetry equipment that would be used by hospital personnel to monitor the vital signs of patients being transported to the hospital in the emergency vehicle.

These are minor details, Adkins said, that will be worked out later. The

Senate OKs School Formula

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate has approved a new formula for basic state aid to public schools that supporters vow will lift state support to 50 per cent and guarantee an equal return for equal local tax effort.

The plan was approved 26-6 Wednesday night after nearly four hours of debate and sent to the House.

By enacting the plan into law, Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, told his colleagues: "We would be saying to the taxpayers everywhere in Ohio, if you make an equal effort we will guarantee equal dollars."

While endorsing the equalization concept, Republicans protested elements in the plan which they said would reverse legislative policy against heavy reliance on real estate property taxes for school operations.

"You have raped the people in Ohio by guaranteeing annual property tax increases," charged Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland.

Van Meter narrowly missed in an attempt to remove language banning property tax rollbacks after 1977 when a five-year reappraisal of real property valuations ends. By disallowing millage reductions when property valuations rise, Van Meter argued, the law would, in effect, be increasing taxes.

His amendment was defeated 17-16 with Democratic Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste casting a rare tie-breaking vote.

Majority Democrats agreed by voice vote to remove from the legislation an amendment that would have earmarked 45 per cent of all new formula funding to teachers' salaries.

The provision had been inserted in the bill during subcommittee hearings through the efforts of the Ohio Education Association, a powerful teachers' lobby.

Another OEA-backed amendment,

Viet Reds Would Talk With U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — A top official of the new South Vietnamese government said in a speech at a victory celebration in Saigon today that his country is willing to open diplomatic relations with the United States.

Nguyen Huu Tho, chairman of the advisory council of the Provisional Revolutionary Government, told the celebration:

"The PRG will open diplomatic, economic, cultural and friendship relations with all countries of the world provided those countries respect the sovereignty of our country and will not interfere in our internal affairs."

He said the United States must "carry out its responsibilities as provided by the Paris agreement of 1973." He did not elaborate on this point, but the PRG has been demanding that the United States recognize it as the government of South Vietnam and "respect the sovereignty of Vietnam."

The United States closed its embassy — which was later looted by Saigonese — a day before the PRG forces marched into Saigon. The United States has never recognized the PRG as a government.

Partly cloudy with chances of showers or thundershowers in the afternoon or evening, high, low 70s. Chances of showers tonight, low, low 50s. Considerable cloudiness Friday, high, mid 60s. which would prohibit schools from officially closing unless two-thirds of the teachers and students are absent, remained in the bill. A motion by Van Meter to delete it failed 17-15.

Opponents claimed the provision would force primary and secondary schools to remain open during teachers' strikes.

Teachers are guaranteed salary increases that will lift them from $6,400 base pay to $8,900 by the 1978-79 school year.

The formula, designed to offset disparities in property tax valuations among school districts, would yield $48 per pupil in state and local money combined for each of the first 20 mills levied locally for school operation.

The state would guarantee $42 per pupil for each additional mill between 20 and 30. The return would be cut off at 30 mills.

The plan would raise the present $680 per pupil minimum base to $1,380 over a four-year period and increase the state share of funding for local school districts from about 42 per cent to 50 per cent.

Districts would have to levy 22 mills in local taxes. The Senate tabled an amendment that would have lowered qualifying millage to the current 20-mill level.

A proposed $10.68 billion state budget, approved by the House Tuesday and sent to the Senate, would provide $502 million in new state money for elementary and secondary education to help finance the formula.

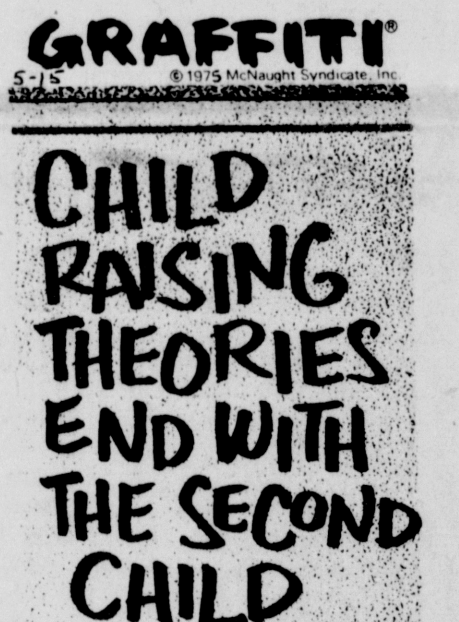

Five of the Senate's 12 Republicans joined a lone Democrat, Sen. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Euclid, in voting against the measure.

The Republicans were: Max Dennis, R-10 Wilmington; Ben M. Gaeth, R-1 Defiance; Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown; William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, and Van Meter.

Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, objected bitterly to the prohibition against property tax rollbacks, but voted for the bill, because, "if we abandon equalization now, we'll never get it."

Current critics contend that the state formula does not adequately account for variations in property valuations and fails to reward local tax effort with an equal flow of state dollars per pupil.

Chessie Railroads Offer To Purchase Penn Central Track

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chessie System railroads have offered to buy nearly 2,000 miles of track to help reorganize the bankrupt Northeastern lines.

The offer to purchase "lines serving shippers in peripheral areas of the bankrupt systems" was made Wednesday by Chessie Chairman Hays Watkins in an appearance before the House Subcommittee on Transportation and Commerce.

"It is our understanding that certain solvent railroads have made proposals to acquire the high density mail line segments of Penn Central, such as the line between Chicago and Pittsburgh and Chicago and Detroit," Watkins said. "This... would utterly destroy any hope of complying with the explicit Congressional mandate... to create a financially self-sustaining rail system."

For that reason, Chessie has "refrained from engaging in a bidding contest for the high-volume, main line routes of Penn Central," he said. Watkins said Chessie had told U.S. Railway Association planners the corporation would be willing to acquire lines in peripheral areas which could be reached by Chessie lines already there.

The executive said the move would eliminate the need for large infusions of government money for track rehabilitation.

If certain conditions are met, Chessie would acquire 86 line segments totalling 500 miles of track, he said. In addition, the company would buy major portions of the Reading and Erie Lackawanna lines and provide competitive service to Philadelphia and Newark-New York.

"Specifically, Chessie will acquire the Reading lines from Lurgan to Harrisburg, Reading, Allentown-Bethlehem, Pa., and Chessie will operate via trackage rights on the Reading line between Reading and Philadelphia," Watkins said. "Chessie will purchase the line between Reading and Wilmington, Del. This will involve Chessie buying more than 250 miles of track."

"As to the Erie Lackawanna, Chessie will consider purchasing a substantial portion of the properties of that carrier from a point in central Ohio to the Newark-New York metropolitan areas totalling in the neighborhood of 1,200 miles of line," he said. "All of these Chessie acquisitions aggregate nearly 2,000 miles of line."

Watkins said the deal depends on Chessie and USRA agreeing on a purchase price guaranteeing a reasonable return on the investment and sale of the Baltimore & Ohio line between Washington and Philadelphia to either Conrail or Amtrak or some other federal agency.

Chessie System, Inc. is the parent company of the Chesapeake and Ohio and B&O and Western Maryland railroads.

County Court Has New Probation Man

The most recent addition to the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court staff is Craig Patterson, the second probation officer. Patterson settled in this area recently and now resides in Columbus with his new wife Rebecca. She is an area sales manager for the Lazarus Company.

Pickaway County facilities are a credit to the offerings in his previous position. He cited examples of the uprisings in the jail in Clark County because of the deplorable conditions. Patterson works in the local office two and a half days a week but is responsible for the parolees from the local court who are residents of Franklin County.

Also appearing as soloist will be David Warner, a senior at Teays Valley, playing Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" on the piano. Mark Noecker, a junior member of the ensemble, will play a tuba solo, "Forty Fathoms" by Harold Walters.

The concert is at 8 p.m. and is open to the public at no charge. Let's have a large crowd for this "first" in our community. We have some fine local talent and they will appreciate your support for all their work.

Fried chicken and all the trimmings will be served at the annual Memorial Day Dinner in the South Bloomfield Municipal Building on May 26. The dinner will be prepared and served by the members of the South Bloomfield United Methodist Church.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters will meet in the K.P. Hall on Tuesday.

The TV Variety 4-H Club met in the Ashville Elementary School on May 8. The meeting was called to order by the president, Gene List. The pledge of allegiance was led by Krista Keller and the 4-H Pledge by April Egbert. Members of the club answered roll call by naming a nation.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Steve Fausnaugh and the treasurer's report was given by Dale List.

Winners of the fishing contest were announced. Largest fish by Tony Porter with Dale List in second place; most fish, Steve Smalley and Steve Fausnaugh tied with 13 each. Brian Simpson, Department of Natural Resources, gave a very interesting talk on fishing poles. A movie, entitled "Fishing", was shown.

All members are reminded to bring fishing poles to the next meeting for the casting contest. Also bring cans that have been picked up.

Refreshments were served by Steve Smalley and Steve Fausnaugh.

Following the banquet the junior choir presented the playlet, "Mother, Don't Forget—Take Time To Pray". The following songs were used in the playlet, "Great Big Wonderful God," "I Heard God Today," "It Matters To Him," "When You Pray," "Read the Bible," "Sweet Jesus" and "I'll Never Be Lonely Again."

Porno Items Are Shredded

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A warehouse load of books, magazines and films adjudged pornographic with a retail value of $1.5 million are being reduced to less than $200 worth of shredded paper in a court-ordered disposal.

The materials were ordered destroyed by Hamilton County Common Pleas Court after the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the 1972 obscenity convictions of the Queen City News and manager John Marshall.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. said office furniture and equipment were sold for court costs. They were taken in a raid on the firm's warehouse.

Marshall was released from jail last week nine months after he began a term of a year and a day.

Fines totaling $52,209 were levied following conviction of the firm and manager on 41 counts of possessing obscene materials.

Woman Viet 'Pied Piper' Safe

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Madame Vu Thi Ngai, who collected war orphans like a Pied Piper for 30 years, bought poison with which to kill herself should she fall into Communist hands.

"I did not anticipate the Viet Cong would kill me outright," said Mme. Ngai. Her name was on a VC death list for allowing hundreds of Vietnamese children to be flown to America.

"There are many different ways of torture," said the 71-year-old woman known throughout Southeast Asia as "the Mother of One Thousand Children."

Mme. Ngai fled Saigon in early May along with other refugees coming to the United States. She said in an interview at her newfound home in Georgia:

"They (Communists) give you paper and pencil. You must write what they tell you — biography, 'confessions.' I'm very tired. I do not have the temperament for this.

"I bought poison, to be ready, if the Americans did not get me out. I would rather die than be in their hands."

A petite woman, she still is strikingly beautiful. She says of the traumatic change which brought her to America: "I begin now my second life."

It is also the second time she has fled communism. The first was in 1954, when her doctor husband and other members of her family were killed by the North Vietnamese.

But long before that, Mme. Ngai, as a wealthy North Vietnamese, was taking pot-bellied, starving children into her mansion in the Tonkin Bay area.

"As a young woman, my interest was sports, all the time," said Mme. Ngai. She was the women's tennis champion of her country, an expert fencer and swimmer.

But the French-Indochina war which broke out in 1945 was to change all that, she said.

"Two million died from hunger. There was nothing to eat. It is hard to understand the poverty and hunger," she said slowly.

As the suffering increased, she and her neighbors began taking in abandoned children. In 1954, the Communist Viet Minh ravaged her town, destroyed her beautiful home, arrested her husband, mother, brother and two sisters.

"All died in prison," she said. "My mother from starvation, because she was too old to work and earn her food. My 15-year-old son disappeared one day. I looked and looked for him."

Then, gathering up the waifs, her jewelry and a few blocks of gold leaf, she fled south with hordes of refugees, picking up more abandoned children along the way.

By the time she reached Haiphong, she had used most of her jewelry and gold to keep her growing group of children alive. In Haiphong, she named her orphanage An Lac. Happy Place.

A Page Of Opinion

Oratory's Demise

The quality of oratory has declined considerably in the last half century. Political debates in the classical sense have ceased to exist.

Mass circulation newspapers, wire services and electronic communications all possess the potential for wide and rapid distribution of opposing remarks on newsworthy items. It is rare today for two opponents to face one another in verbal fisticuffs.

There is one corner in the world where oratory as an art is still fashionable—London's Hyde Park. Soapbox orators in the park are among London's most renowned institutions, dating back to 1855, when legend has it a carpenter addressed a small crowd, found his reception good and repeated his performance.

Hyde Park long has been a favorite sounding board for bizarre characters in flowing robes and equally long beards, but some of the most honored statesmen and churchmen in British history also have made their points from a platform in Hyde Park.

Interesting ground rules are in effect in the park. No criticism is permitted of the British monarchy, but the throne is not permitted to use the park. Anything else goes, providing it is not "obscene, blasphemous or an incitement to a breach of the peace."

London observers of the park's speakers corner lament the decline in the quality of oratory, if not the quantity. Perhaps the disease of self-importance afflicts all public speakers. But life in the United States would be more serene, and more enjoyable, if men used soapboxes more and streets less in demonstrating their pleasure or displeasure at the turn of events.

Price Of Eternity

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Dr. Tom Dooley, a brave and romantic figure in an earlier exodus of Vietnamese peoples, died of cancer in 1961. He will soon be in the hands of the Devil's Advocate.

Some of the people who knew him have proposed that the Vatican canonize him as St. Thomas Anthony Dooley. The nomination is called a Cause. A papal court that dates back a thousand years, in portions of its authority, puts the nominee's record on trial. The chief prosecutor, not unlike a Watergate prosecutor, demands that the Promoter, the spokesman for the group proposing sainthood, make the case watertight. The prosecutor has been called the Devil's Advocate. Scores of them, of course, have died off through the centuries, including a succession of them who blackballed Sainthood for Christopher Columbus, mainly on the ground (or ocean) that he maintained a mistress while bringing the Cross to the New World.

My friend Tom's Promoter is the Rev. Maynard C. Keger, O.N.I. In a call for support from those who had the joy of knowing Tom, or who read his best-selling books, Father Keger (621 So. 1st Avenue, Buffalo, Minnesota 55313) writes:

"I have been asked by our Postulator of Causes in Rome to initiate the Cause of Dr. Tom Dooley through the offices of the Causes of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. We are asking for your help to get the Cause moving as smoothly as possible. All of us feel that Dr. Tom should be raised to the dignity of Sainthood, but, as you know, it is a long process.

"1. — Send letters to me with your signature (or signatures) requesting that Dr. Tom Dooley's Cause be formally introduced in Rome for eventual Canonization. Signatures must be only on one side of the page.

"2. — We must have photo copies (originals if you wish to donate them to the Cause) of any and all correspondence of Dr. Tom Dooley. We are particularly interested in copies of personal correspondence in which he speaks of ideas, goals, faith, etc.

"3. — Any pamphlets, articles from magazines and newspapers would also be appreciated.

"4. — Funds will be needed to further the Cause and to help defray expenses. Any donations will be appreciated.

"5. — Tape recordings (or letters) of personal evaluations from people who knew Tom personally would be quite helpful.

"6. — Any favors received or miracles attested to the intercessions of Dr. Tom should be reported to me at the address herewith.

"I will be serving as the U.S.A. liaison with Father Mitri in Rome for the advancement of Dr. Tom's Cause. . . . Gratefully in the Lord and united in prayer for Tom's Cause, I am, sincerely . . ."

Saint was once an Old Testament term, reserved for Israelites in their role as the "chosen people of God." In the Christian era, the word was applied automatically to martyrs. The places of their deaths were considered hallowed. Bishops would spread the word to other bishops and ask for prayers and veneration of the departed.

Still later, many bishops took it upon themselves to bestow sainthood on dead members of their flocks. Others gained sainthood by serving as "confessors" — they "confessed" their devotion to Christ in front of hostile groups who could and on occasion did kill them. In the hope that their children would show the same courage as they grew in the new faith, Christian parents named them after Saints — just as Dooley was named for St. Thomas. St. Dionysius of Alexandria, who died in A.D. 265, noted in his memoirs the most popular names of his boyhood were Peter and Paul, both martyred.

This part of the world is short on saints. Mother Seton (Elizabeth Ann Bayley), born in New York in 1774, widowed with five young children,

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For this week's observance of National Transportation Week, the Transportation Department has released to bureaucrats some canned, all-purpose remarks that might form the basis of a speech.

Railroadmen, who maintain they have been the victims of government bias in regard to prices they can charge, competition they must face and unprofitable lines they must maintain, looked at the script and blinked.

"There is," the document states, "an urgent need for a complete revision of the economic philosophy that lies behind the government's regulation of our railroads."

The railroads have been saying that for years. They've also been pointing out, as the official speech does also, that "if our railroads were to stop today, our economy would start closing down tomorrow."

The paragraphs that followed seemed to surprised railroad executives to be right out of their own script:

"The major reason for railroad decline is, of course, competition from trucks, pipelines and inland waterways. I must point out that some of this competition from trucks and waterways is unfair in that these modes receive a high degree of government subsidy.

"Their rights-of-way are owned, operated and maintained by governments. The railroads, however, must pay taxes on theirs. And they are, for example, liable for damage on them.

"A second cause for railroad decline is the outmoded government regulatory process. The economic regulations administered by the Interstate Commerce Commission were drawn up nearly 100 years ago when railroads were kings.

"The classic decisions in rate cases are decided on the basis of precedent — on what has gone before when railroads had a monopoly."

If the issues are so clear, members of the Association of American Railroads are asking, why can't they win more points with Congress and the rest of the federal establishment?

The railroad executives maintain that their situation is critical — and that if theirs is critical so then is the position of the entire country, which depends upon railroads to transport 70 per cent of its coal, 60 per cent of its grain.

The railroads claim they need more money if they are to continue the job, a statement weakened somewhat by their report of 1974 earnings, the highest from operations in eight years, although still low by historical standards.

While truckers run relatively unencumbered by user charges on publicly maintained highways, and barge operators have the use of a similarly maintained inland waterway system, the railroads claim they lose $1 billion a year in regulatory red tape, property taxes and forced continuance of losing operations.

LAFF - A - DAY

"I'm fresh out of dough — could you lend me a dollar till we get home?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have two young children and I am in a state of chronic fatigue. I barely get through the chores of the day.

I work hard and frankly resent the fact that my family thinks my tiredness is psychological. Couldn't there be some other reason?

Mrs. C. L., Penn.

Dear Mrs. L.:

The multiple obligations of a home and family can be overwhelmingly exhausting. The frenetic activity of running a house can deprive the conscientious housewife and mother of all her energy.

It is unfair for anyone to assume that your excessive fatigue is psychological. There are far too many other physical reasons that should be explored first.

Overactivity and underactivity of the thyroid gland, low-grade chronic infections, menstrual disorders, anemia, hormone deficiencies, low blood sugar, low blood pressure, poor nutrition and deficiency of vitamins and minerals must all be ruled out as a primary reason for your exhaustion.

It is true that psychological stress and emotional upheavals can materially add to the burden if a physical condition does exist.

One does not need to apologize for fatigue. The cause must be found and then a realignment of work and leisure-time must be established.

Our newborn child has "torticollis." We've been told that this can be fixed, but we need some added assurance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J., Tenn.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. J.:

A large muscle runs from the mastoid bone to the collar bone. A birth injury, or some defect in development, may have shortened this muscle which is very important in turning the head.

It is now possible, by relatively simple surgery, to safely repair this contracted muscle.

Adults, too, develop torticollis (a wry, or stiff neck). Usually, this is a temporary spasm of the muscle. With drugs and heat the spasm is easily relieved.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

Many cities now have a doctor emergency service. If your own doctor is not immediately available in an emergency it is a great source of comfort to know that a doctor can always be contacted.

Doll Repairers Mend Little Girls' Hearts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Glover mends broken hearts.

"Oh, please help," recently pleaded a young doll owner whose heart was broken. "My Emily fell and broke her middle."

Mrs. Glover went to the rescue, and by morning Emily had recovered. "Emily may be just a doll, but she's almost human to a little girl," said Mrs. Glover, who runs Doll Repair Parts Inc. in Cleveland with Miss Dorothy Tompkins, another doll fancier.

"Little kids peek over our counter with their eyes big as saucers and they hold up a doll that's almost beyond hope," said Miss Tompkins. "Ruth fixes them if she can."

Mrs. Glover has been a doll surgeon since her own two daughters were doll-sized.

"That was 28 years ago and I guess I just never stopped," she said.

Doll Repair Parts Inc. is not only a retail store, but a wholesale supply business for other doll hospitals and individual repairmen. It has one of the largest doll stand businesses in the country.

A Rocky River woman came in, hugging a package. "I have a very sick doll here," she said.

"In our business you usually have a head and hope to find a body," said Mrs. Glover. "Oh, I didn't plan to sound like a murder thriller."

Frankenstein would have fun in her back room. Drawers are neatly labeled "six-inch bodies," "arms," "knee joints," "three-inch legs" and "torsos."

A broken leg case lay on the operating table.

"That's a ball and joint doll and I'll have to restring her," Mrs. Glover said.

Her operating instruments include a drill, screwdriver, soldering iron, forceps, pliers—even toothpicks. And, as in human operating rooms, Mrs. Glover doesn't like overwrought doll mothers peeking over her shoulder.

"The hardest to repair?" she said. "An overall chipped head, I think. You have to take the whole layer off, fill in and sand and apply new coats of paint. You have to have heavy painting."

Repairs take from 10 minutes to three days. Some of the modern dolls are unfixable. They have intricately wired insides and manufacturers often have them hermetically sealed. No do manufacturers make parts available.

"I guess dolls are the closest to humans among inanimate objects," said Mrs. Glover. "Sad it is. Some children never get the affection they really crave."

She still remembers how one child's eyes lighted up when she brought her favorite doll to her hospital bed. And, the other day a tiny tot stood up on her toes and watched as Mrs. Glover came out of the doll operating room.

"Oh, my baby's back," she cried.

Republic Expands Alabama Plant

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. announced plans Wednesday to boost output of its Gadsden, Ala., steel plant by 60 per cent with a $350 million expansion.

"Project Dixie" would mean additions to the 3,400-member payroll but not in direct proportion to the increase in capacity, Republic President W.J. De Lancey said.

Stockholders at the firm's annual meeting in Flemington, N.J., were told that the expansion would add about one million tons of raw-steel production capacity per year.

Wildlife Kill Claims Settled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ten wildlife kill claims were settled by the Division of Wildlife on Wednesday against two companies and a country club for a total of more than $31,000.

Eight claims were settled by Buckeye Pipe Line Co. for $27,500, according to the Department of Natural Resources. Nearly 208,000 wild animals, mostly fish, were killed as a result of petroleum products entering streams from breaks in the company's pipelines.

The other claim was against Penn Central Transportation Co. for killing more than 60,000 fish near Dennison. It was settled for $2,975. Congress Lake Country Club of Hartsville paid $900 for nearly 1,400 fish killed during July 1973.

Tropical Plants Replace Corridors

BOSTON (AP) — Tropical plants, not walls or corridors, will be used to guide traffic patterns in many offices at the new 60-story Hancock Tower.

Some 3,000 plants, including the six-foot, six-inch butterfly palm, are being transported from Florida to the delight of green-thumbed employees who will be working in the building designed by I.M. Pei and Partners. In addition to guiding people from office to office, the plants are said to create a restful quality that increases productivity.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Charles D. Moeller, president of a firm whose sponge rubber plant was destroyed March 1 by an explosion, pleaded innocent Wednesday to 10 counts of federal bomb and conspiracy charges.

Moeller, of Cridersville, Ohio, entered his plea before federal Judge Jon Newman.

Nine other men have been charged in connection with the arson case at Sponge Rubber Products Co. in Shelton. Two of them pleaded innocent earlier. Six others are expected in court Monday.

The 10th man remains at large. Moeller is president of Ohio Decorative Products of Spencerville, the parent firm of Sponge Rubber Products that was demolished by fire.

Air Pollution
Deadline Eased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state took a step Wednesday toward easing its air pollution deadline for two additional years.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency announced a June 12 public hearing to consider repealing the deadline for complying with anti-pollution standards on particulates, sulfur oxides, carbon monoxide, photochemical materials, hydrocarbons and related materials from July 1, 1975, to April 15, 1977.

The agency said this would permit the state to take advantage of the maximum time before maximum compliance allowed by the federal government.

Real Estate
Regulations Bared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Division of Real Estate ruled out Wednesday correspondence courses as a means of qualifying either as a real estate salesman or broker.

Ohio law requires 30 hours of classroom instruction for salesmen and 60 hours for brokers, and specifies actual classroom attendance, said John C. Johnson, division deputy secretary.

Applicants will have to complete classroom training before being tested for either license after July 1 this year, Johnson said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Registration and voting have joined such subjects as mathematics, biology and home economics in most of the state's high schools.

It's all part of a Voter Information Program (VIP) being carried out by the secretary of state.

Since the program began last year secretary of state Ted W. Brown's office has reached 625 of the state's 851 high schools. "It's been very successful," said James Marsh, Brown's chief assistant.

Marsh explained that 17-year-olds will get the right to vote in the June 3 primary, if they will be 18 by the November election.

"They will be eligible to vote for candidates, but not ballot issues," Marsh said.

The VIP program, he said, is an aftermath of the law lowering the voting age from 21 to 18.

Brown's people do not go into the high school unless they are asked to appear as part of the program. Most of the work setting up a VIP program is done by mail.

"We will get in contact with a principal and ask him to name a faculty adviser and a student coordinator, who will actually set up the program," Marsh said.

Brown's office will supply informational materials about the right to vote as it affects teenagers.

"In a large part, the schools have handled it as part of the curriculum in state government classes," he said.

Sometimes, a school will ask the local board of elections to explain voting procedures.

"They may show voting equipment, introduce candidates for office or actually conduct a branch registration at the school," he said.

"Our idea is to carry out a bicentennial theme," Marsh said. "It is a natural to use in encouraging registration and voting. And that's what this is all about."

The program may be stepped up on

Miss Darlene Kay Neff Bride Of John W. Glick

MRS. JOHN WALTER GLICK JR.

Miss Darlene Kay Neff and Mr. John Walter Glick Jr. exchanged wedding vows 1:30 p.m., April 26th, at East Ringgold United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elden R. Neff, Route 1, Ashville, and the bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. John W. Glick Sr., 114 Sycamore St., Crooksville.

The Rev. Don C. Makarius and the Rev. John W. Glick, father of the bridegroom, performed the double ring service before the altar adorned with palm branches, spring bouquets of lavender, blue and white carnations, and statice, flanked with candelabra.

Mrs. Rosalee Stackhouse, organist, and the Rev. Robert P. Miller Sr., vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding a formal length gown of white silk organza designed with a duchess neckline and bishop sleeves. The empire bodice featured accents of chantilly lace in a rose design, falling from the sheer yoke to the hemline of the A-line silhouette. A detachable chapel train with lace accents flowed gracefully from a self-bow at the back waist.

The bride's Camelot headpiece of chantilly lace held a chapel length mantilla bordered with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations atop a Bible given to her by her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spangler.

Mrs. Donald Neff, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a gown of sheer dacron polyester in a floral design of blue, lavender and deep purple over ice blue taffeta in the A-line design with large ruffles forming the sleeves and collar. She carried a single pink rose surrounded by statice and baby's breath and tied with variegated ribbon.

Bridesmaids, Miss Janice Glick, Mrs. Gary Hughes, Miss Elizabeth Good, Miss Karen Harmount and Mrs. Joseph Green, were gowned identically to the honor attendant. Mrs. Paul VanAtta presided at the guest book.

Mr. David Glick served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Donald Neff, brother of the bride; Mr. Steve Hines, Mr. Jeff Helsler, Mr. Ken Gregory and Mr. Jack Smith.

The bride's mother wore a full length dress of coral polyester with long sleeves, high collar and set-in waistline with sequins. Her corsage was of coral roses and carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a long dress of floral green and blue polyester in an A-line design with ruffle trimming at the neckline. Her corsage was of pink roses and carnations.

A reception at Teays Valley High School followed the ceremony. The four tiered wedding cake of blue and lavender rose trim was surrounded with ivy. Hostesses were Mrs. David Dum, Miss Deborah Helsler, Miss Deborah Lowry, Mrs. Phillip Salyers, Miss Sandy Hill, Mrs. James Pritchard and Mrs. Stephen Thompson.

For a wedding trip to Shawnee Lodge in southern Ohio, the bride wore a pant suit of white double knit with an orange blouse. The couple now resides at Route 2, Ashville.

The new Mrs. Glick is a 1973 graduate of Teays Valley High School and employed by Teays Valley Board of Education as a secretary.

Mr. Glick, a 1971 graduate of Teays Valley High School, attended Ohio University and is currently employed by Ashland Oil Co.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Crooksville, Fayetteville, Johnstown, Port William, Sabina, Mt. Sterling, Logan and Lancaster, Ohio; Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

Pollution Prints Taken Of Cities

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — Pollution "fingerprints" of 11 eastern United States cities have been identified by three Battelle Northwest scientists who will use the information to confirm air quality predictions.

The three say that with their information—and following similar studies on other cities—they can identify the source of air pollution found in rural areas.

James Young, Nels Laulainen and Larry Wendell spent most of last December flying in the plumes of pollution generated by the cities. They sampled the air with filters, and have analyzed the particles they captured.

The pollutants, Young said, have been compiled on charts that give concentration ratios—figures indicating the relative amounts of various elements found in the air.

The three, working out of the Energy Research and Development Administration's Pacific Northwest Laboratory here, took samples at St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Rochester, New York, Allentown-Bethlehem, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

"Various people are developing computer models to predict pollution concentrations in rural areas in the northeast quarter of the country,"

Young said. "Using the ratios we identify, we are able to calculate where the pollutants come from that are in the air in a given rural location."

For instance, Young said, the ratio of the amount of lead in the air at Columbus to the amount of selenium is 13. But at Philadelphia, that ratio is 130.

The three will go back to the 11 cities in June to make sure that their findings are accurate for other times of the year. Figures already are available, Young said, for other periods of the year in St. Louis and New York.

"The ratios are amazingly constant," he said.

ERDA said the Battelle work is in preparation for a program to begin in 1976 called the Multistate Atmospheric Power Production Pollution Study. It said that will concentrate on pollutants which have effects far beyond their sources.

Park Regulations To Change Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—New rules and regulations for Ohio state parks may be in effect by Memorial Day, Division of Parks and Recreation Chief Rodney Cooper said Wednesday.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources held a public hearing on the proposed package that includes increases in boat dock rentals and overnight camping and lodge fees.

Some 70 persons were on hand when the hearing opened but attendance had dwindled to less than 20 when it ended two hours and 30 minutes later.

Several persons objected to a proposal to increase annual boat dock rentals from $40 to $75 effective next year, but Cooper indicated later the hike would remain.

"There hasn't been a change there for a long time," he said. "They are still way below commercial rates. I don't feel we are gouging anybody."

Cooper said he would like to have the new regulations in effect by Memorial Day but it might be the first of June before they are ready.

First, he said, he will study suggestions made at the hearing and possibly make some changes. The regulations will go into effect 10 days after he files them with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Cooper said about 85 per cent of the package is simply a recompilation of existing rules and regulations that have gone into effect piecemeal over the years.

Norman E. Westfall of Glouster, who has a boat at Burr Oak Lake, was typical of the 10 who spoke against the boat dock increase. "I think the fees are prohibitive and unjustified," he said.

Nobody objected to the hike in overnight camping fees or a boost in lodge rentals. A parade of private camp site operators spoke for the increase, saying it would make them more competitive.

Boys' Choir Plans Annual Spring Concert

The Circleville Boys' Choir will present its seventh annual Spring Concert this Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church on East Main Street.

The choir is completing the seventh year of performing in Circleville and the surrounding community. Membership in the choir this year is nineteen boys in grades four through seven in the Circleville City Schools.

The concert will include selections from the music used during the year that the choir has performed for various organizations and churches.

The afternoon program will include songs by members who have been in the choir for two or more years. Soloists will be Jim Frericks, Layne Wolfe, Jeff Mullet, and Jim Jacobs.

Randy Wolfe, accompanist and former choir member, will perform during the intermission.

During the concert, awards will be presented to members and the trophy for the Outstanding Choir Member will be presented by the Director, Paul Dunkle.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

U.S. Prison Plan Dead?

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, says the government has assured him it will not proceed with plans to build a minimum-security prison near Hinkley if local opposition continues.

"I agree with that," the Ohio Democrat said. "Why ram it down their throats, especially if there are other places that want it?"

Glenn said site of the prison would win about 160 permanent jobs and about 200 construction jobs.

Much of the opposition expressed by residents of Hinkley and Richfield Townships in Summit and Medina counties is based on unfounded views, he added. Most of the young persons confined at the facility would be first offenders who had not committed violent crimes, he said.

U.S. Rep. Charles Vanik, D-22, also supports opponents of the prison. He said residents should have the right to oppose any federal project that might cause alarm in the community.

Mom Buys Ammo For Policewoman

WINDERMERE, Fla. (AP) — Police reservist Pam Mullins has to send her mother to buy bullets for the .38 caliber revolver she carries on patrol.

"Federal law prohibits anyone under the age of 21 from buying ammunition for a revolver," Miss Mullins, 19, said Tuesday. "So I get my mother to go to the store for me."

Police officers in this small community some 12 miles west of Orlando have to provide their own guns and ammunition.

"We only have one gun," Police Chief Ralph Witte said. "That was left behind by a policeman who was here some years ago."

Miss Mullins said she borrowed a gun from a friend "but I've never had to use it. It is a very peaceful community and the only problems you have are with speeders."

She said her mother, Faye, was "a little alarmed when first asked to buy the bullets because she doesn't know anything about guns."

Miss Mullins took a 16-week police training course at Seminole Junior College and is now studying criminal justice. She also works as a dispatcher for the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

Miss Mullins is the only woman on the Windermere force which consists of the police chief, three patrolmen and four reservists.

Miss Mullins estimated that she fired 500 rounds of ammunition on the firing range while taking her Police Board of Standards training.

"I did well enough to qualify," she said. "I enjoy police work. I ride on patrol at night and if they have any women prisoners they'll call me out."

Witte said he can't remember when Windermere, population 983, last had a violent crime. He appointed Miss Mullins three weeks ago.

"She's been a real help to us," he said. "Everybody seems to like her, she's likeable and she's qualified."

Bumper Crops To Hurt Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bumper 1975 harvests now in prospect are expected to force down commodity prices and slash the value of U.S. farm exports by nearly one-fifth next season, says the Agriculture Department.

The department's Outlook and Situation Board said Tuesday that farm exports in the 1975-76 fiscal year to begin July 1 are expected to total about $18 billion, down from a record $22 billion this year.

Officials said the drop will also mean a decline in the U.S. farm trade balance — the difference between exports and imports — to around $9 billion from $12 billion now anticipated for the current year.

"Some of the developments expected to reduce exports during fiscal 1976 include slow recovery from the recession in most developed countries, expected gains in world agricultural production, and reduced export earnings by many major developing countries because of the sharp drop in prices of raw materials," the report said.

It also said that "export prices have dropped significantly since January" and that this will have a determining effect. The actual volume of shipments — including U.S. grain — is expected to be up about 10 per cent next season.

Looking at individual foreign markets, the report said Japan as the leading U.S. farm customer may buy $2.8 billion worth of products next fiscal year, down from $3.4 billion currently.

Western Europe, as a bloc, may take $6.3 billion worth next fiscal year, the report said, compared with $7.4 billion in 1974-75.

Farm exports to the Soviet Union, currently estimated at $400 million, may increase to about $500 million next fiscal year if sales of grain and other products pick up.

Officials said next year's farm sales to the People's Republic of China "are not promising" at this time. Sales this year are expected at around $300 million.

Plane's Altitude Questioned At Time Of Fatal Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just 20 seconds before a private plane crashed last January, killing five Ohio men, someone in the National Airport tower questioned whether the craft was flying too low, air traffic control tapes show.

The tapes containing background information not previously known to the public were released by the National Transportation Safety Board Wednesday. The board is investigating the cause of the fatal crash.

The question by an unidentified person resulted in other comments on the minimum altitude allowed in the area, the tapes show. But the air traffic controller watching the plane did not ask the pilot about his altitude until the plane had crashed.

Edgar Wolfe, publisher of The Columbus Dispatch, was among those killed when the plane hit a radio tower and plunged onto the American University campus in northwest Washington Jan. 25.

The tapes show an unidentified voice in the background asked 20 seconds before the crash: "That guy shouldn't be that low up there, should he?"

Other unidentified background voices said:

"... A thousand feet up there, is that what it is?"

"I think so."

"A thousand foot too low?"

That final comment came sometime after nine minutes and 53 seconds past five p.m., the safety board transcript shows.

At 5:10 p.m., the air traffic controller who was watching the radar screen told the local controller "Five seven Victory (the plane's call letters) looks pretty low up there and a little bit off the radial."

However, the plane already had crashed by that time, the safety board said. It estimated the plane struck the radio tower about nine minutes and 52 seconds past five p.m.

Contents of the background conversation was not made public earlier because it was at such a low sound level that the safety board investigators could not hear it on the original tape. The voices were amplified by special sound equipment used by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

However, the safety board said there still were several sections of the conversation where it was not sure just what was said.

Facial Surgery Wins Acceptance

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — People used to slip out of town if they were having surgery to fix their nose. They'd stay out of public places immediately after face lifts.

No longer. Today's candidates for facial surgery can hardly wait to tell the neighbors.

"Today, facial surgery is an accepted thing," said Dr. Robert Maltz, of the University of Cincinnati Medical Center. "It's not only accepted, but it's bragged about."

Maltz and the surgeons who have gathered for a four-day conference on cosmetic facial surgery couldn't be happier with the way people's attitudes have developed toward cosmetic surgery since World War II.

"People have become more aware of the advantages of a good self image," Maltz said. "Women have become freed from household chores and they have become more image conscious."

"Men discovered how important looking youthful has become in the business world."

Facial surgery can give men that youthful look, and can improve that nose that has been bothering a patient for years.

Maltz said the majority of his patients are happy with the results, and that happiness is often the result of a careful preoperation screening process.

Patients with a frivolous attitude who want a facial change because everyone else is doing it are usually turned down, according to Dr. Trent Smith, of Columbus, Ohio, president of the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery.

"Everyone has a self-image of himself when he looks in the mirror," Smith said. "An operation should be what the patient wants and not what somebody else wants him to be."

Maltz said most of his patients don't know exactly who they'd like to look like, but they have very definite ideas of what they don't want to look like when the operation is finished.

Many doctors claim they feel almost like "Dr. Pymalions" when their patient's personalities often grow more outgoing after the surgery.

"This is one of the most satisfying personal types of surgery to a surgeon," Smith said. "It's an artistic, constructive thing that the person looks at every day."

"It's different from having a gall bladder out, where the person knows he feels better but he soon forgets about it. I get pictures sent to me. Girls send me their wedding pictures and pictures of their kids."

Ohio Congressmen's Reaction Mixed To Cambodian Ordeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opinions of Ohio congressmen ranged from firm approval to outrage Wednesday over U.S. bombing of Cambodian gunboats to protect crew members of the captured American merchant ship "Mayaguez."

The congressmen's comments came before Marines seized the ship and landed on Koh Tang Island in an effort to rescue the crewmen.

U.S. Rep. John Seiberling, D-14, and at least two other representatives accused President Ford of breaking federal law which prohibits him from using U.S. military force "in, over or off the shores of Cambodia" without Congressional authorization.

"The thing that bothers me is the spectacle of a trigger-happy administration using force not as a last resort but as a first step," said Seiberling.

"Such arrogant misuse of power may require this Congress to consider impeachment proceedings against this President also," echoed Rep. Louis Stokes, D-21.

Rep. Charles Vanik, D-22, also said Ford broke the law, adding, "I'm just hoping the action does not destroy our hopes for settling the matter through diplomacy."

But Rep. Ronald Mottl, D-23, said President Ford had to do everything possible to protect the 39 crew members. "We don't want another Pueblo incident, I'm standing by the President."

U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, agreed that the attack was "entirely justified."

"It was mandatory to prevent removal of the crew to the mainland," the state's senior senator said. "It is an appropriate response to the brazen seizure and holding of a U.S. ship from the high seas."

Ohio's junior senator, John Glenn, D-Ohio, said rescue of the crewmen was the most critical consideration but said he hoped the President had "concrete intelligence information that the sole way to obtain the safe return of the Mayaguez crew was through a strong display of power."

Glenn called on the President to make public the information which led to the decision.

Rep. James Stanton, D-20, said

Congress should not render a decision until it had the information Ford acted on. "I do not want to see a Gulf of Tonkin type action, yet I recognize the need to protect the lives of our American seamen," he said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Constantly Late

DEAR ABBY: Thirty lashes with a nasty old chicken feather for saying that dogs will kill only when they are in pairs or packs. Where did you ever get that idea? It's not true. One dog alone will attack and kill chickens, other animals or even people.

I have owned two chicken-killing dogs at different times, and while the suggested cure of tying the dead chicken around the dog's neck and leaving it there until it rots is good, I have a more effective cure.

I catch the dog with the dead chicken in his mouth, and while holding the dog firmly, I take the chicken from his mouth and then proceed to beat the !$%?! (expletives deleted) out of the dog with the dead chicken. This really works.

No, I am not cruel. I am just sick of losing chickens.

BILL IN WELLSVILLE, N.Y.
DEAR BILL: Thirty lashes with a chicken feather isn't enough. Make it a dog leash. I got the idea that dogs will only kill in pairs or packs from three veterinarians. And have I got a bone to pick with them!

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the young girl whose boyfriend was always late that I had the same trouble with my boyfriend but married him anyway and couldn't be happier.

We've been married for 18 years and have six wonderful children (the last one was born in the parking lot of the hospital because my husband was late.)

I wouldn't trade my man for any other in the world. Being late is his only fault, but he's worth waiting for.

NADINE LEDBETTER

DEAR NADINE: Congratulations, even though you weren't able to get the lead out of Ledbetter.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter, a young woman who had been living with her boyfriend for two years wanted to have a big church wedding. You replied in your column that it was in poor taste since they had been living together openly.

What difference does it make whether two people have been living together openly or secretly? A wedding is for the couple's benefit and not that of the guests. If the bride and groom want a big church wedding, who has the right to tell them not to have one just because others might think it's in poor taste?

MY VIEW
DEAR VIEW: A couple should indeed have the kind of wedding they want. But if they chose to live together openly for two years despite their parents' protests, why should they expect their parents to foot the bill for a lavish, 300-guest extravaganza?

NO KINDNESS—Steven Laine, public affairs director for Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, is comforted by his wife, Iris, at George Washington University hospital in Washington, D. C. Laine, 46, was on his way home from work as he crossed the grounds of the Washington Monument, a rough crowd of 125,000 gathered there for observance of Human Kindness Day. He was attacked and stabbed in the right eye. Doctors say he will lose the eye.

Acid Precipitation Effects On World Studied By Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Scientists gathered this week to investigate the problem and effects of acid precipitation on the world at a symposium at Ohio State University.

When excess amounts of pollution rise into the atmosphere and return to earth as precipitation, the phenomenon results.

"We must first determine what is known, whether there is a real problem, and how serious a threat it is before we can decide what to do about it," said Leon S. Dochinger, a U.S. Forest Service official at Delaware and cochairman of the 1st International Symposium on Acid Precipitation and the Forest Ecosystem.

"This conference is aimed at an initial understanding of all factors in the problem so that we can gain a true perspective and plot the direction of research," he said.

At the conference, John R. McGuire, chief of the U.S. Forest Service, told participants that the problem of acid precipitation is becoming increasingly a difficult problem.

Soil damage caused by the pollution is long-range and still being researched, McGuire said.

McGuire said the precipitation level has reached dangerous proportions in some Midwestern states.

Some scientists detect signs of a serious threat, both from natural and man-made causes, which could be aggravated by expanding industries, such as utility companies.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service and Ohio State's Atmospheric Sciences program sponsored the session with the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of the Interior's office of Water Research and Technology.

Memorial Airport News

By LEE JACKSON
Airport Manager

Hello Ashville, Laurelvill, Williamsport, Circleville, and the rest of you Pickaway Countians. Thought I forgot you, didn't you? No sir, just saving the best for last.

It's been another great and busy week here at the zoo. As you have probably already heard, a Cessna Citation twin-engine fan jet visited us on Sunday evening and departed about 2:30 p.m. Monday. It was owned by the Beckett Corp. of Omaha and was here awaiting executives of the Kenworth Corp.

Dave Massie, my assistant and head scrounger for the airport, soloed on May 8. Amid cheers and jeers, he departed our airport alone and unassisted, punching holes in many clouds.

Great work, Dave.

Contributions include a new coffee maker from Bill Clifton of Dynamic Sales and about three yards of concrete from Pickaway Mobile Concrete for a sidewalk. Thank you, gentlemen.

I would also like to thank Bryan Wilkinson for showing his dad, Bob, how to install sidewalks.

Monday evening I was a guest of Jim Price at the Circleville Kiwanis Club meeting. Not only did they furnish me with a great meal, but they allowed me to show a very modern movie on general aviation. I met a lot of wonderful people that evening and appreciated the opportunity.

Tuesday, I was the guest of the Circleville Sertoma Club. Isn't it funny how I keep showing up where there is a free meal. Thanks, fellas, I had a great time.

T. D. Van Camp stopped over last week and invited me to the June 3 meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Pickaway Arms. Wow, another free meal.

With all of the new coffee pots, Ward Skinner of the local Cardinal Food Store gave us a case of coffee. So from now on, you coffee drinkers can thank Ward.

Henry McCrady, Harlowe and Emanuel, I want to say thanks for mowing our 6,000 acres. Without your help and concern, the airport wouldn't look as good as it does now. We've had a lot of comments about the neat look of the grass. Thanks, fellas.

The series of five-day on-campus courses is designed to strengthen the management competency and provide new insights into the management functions of supervisory personnel in industry.

The courses concentrate in four areas—behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations.

During the past 23 years more than 800 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 15,000 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management program.

Church Trial Continues

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Bishop John Burt, head of the Ohio Episcopal Diocese, was expected to be called to testify today in the trial of a priest accused of breaking church law by allowing two women to celebrate communion.

At least four witnesses told an ecclesiastical court here Wednesday that the priesthood of the two and nine other Episcopal women ordained in Philadelphia last summer is valid.

The testimony came from defense witnesses in the trial of the Rev. Peter Beebe of Christ Church, Oberlin, who also is accused of disobeying Bishop Burt's request that the two women not be permitted to officiate at the Eucharist last December.

The Rev. Henry Rightor, professor of canon law and pastoral theology at Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va., maintained that when the church's canons use masculine pronouns in reference to ordination, they are used generically and include women.

Bishop Robert DeWitt, one of three bishops who ordained the 11 women July 29, 1974, testified the ordinations met all requirements of substance although not of procedure. The women's credentials were examined by the ordaining bishops instead of the standing committees of the dioceses involved since the women's dioceses would not certify them because of their sex, Bishop DeWitt explained.

The bishop also testified that although a priest has a responsibility to take seriously a godly admonition from his bishop, the priest's own conscience informed by scripture and prayer might dictate that he refuse to obey.

In a deposition, Bishop John Hines, who resigned last year as the church's presiding bishop, contended the women were validly ordained, although they had not completed the process because they were not licensed by their diocese and bishops. He said the matter could be settled in a court such as this one.

Bob Wills Succumbs

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Bob Wills, 70, composer of the Western classic song "San Antonio Rose," died Tuesday. Wills' fiddle took him from the Texas cotton fields to movies and bandstands across the country, and into the Country Music Association's Hall of Fame in Nashville, Tenn. He led the "Texas Playboys" band, made more than 400 recordings and starred in half a dozen Hollywood movies.

BOARDING BUSES—The Ashville Sixth Grades made an overnight trek to Dearborn Michigan Sunday and Monday where they toured Greenfield Village and the Ford Museum.

Ashville Sixth Grades Take Bicentennial Trip

The Ashville Sixth Grades took an overnight "Bicentennial Trip" to Dearborn, Mich., where they toured Greenfield Village and the Ford Museum.

Eighty-six students, five senior boys from Teays Valley, three sixth grade teachers and the school librarian boarded two buses Sunday morning for the trip.

The group arrived in Dearborn about 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon after eating a sack lunch along the way. They unloaded at Lovett Hall dormitories.

In groups of nine or ten they toured the 14-acre Ford Museum. Trains, cars and planes seemed to catch the interest the most. Back at the dormitory they gathered on the lawn where they consumed 78 cheeseburgers, 85 hamburgers, over 100 bags of french fries and numerous milk shakes and cold drinks.

Later half of the group went swimming in the dormitory pool while the other group played in the gym. The two groups later reversed activities. Lights were out in the dorm at 10 p.m.

Monday morning everyone was up by 7 a.m. with belongings packed, beds made and ready for breakfast at 8 a.m.

The group toured Greenfield Village beginning at 9 a.m. Even though it drizzled most of the morning, everyone covered a large part of the 200 acre outdoor museum that depicts the growth of America over a span of 300 years. Edison's laboratory, the one-room log cabin, blacksmith shop and Noah Webster's home seemed to be the highlights of the village.

Shortly after noon the buses began the trip home, arriving in Ashville at 9 p.m.

The teachers, Candace Costas, Georgia Dore and Jean Siriano, reported the field trip a success and hoped "the children will long remember the many examples of their American heritage they saw there."

The five senior boys who served as chaperones were Kevin Archer, Jeff Beatty, Mike Figgins, Keith Pettibone and Ted Ross. Jewell Roesse, librarian, also assisted.

The sixth grade classes had several money making projects to help finance the trip, including a bake-sale, seed sale, turkey raffle and serving refreshments at a free movie. The Ashville PTA also helped make the trip possible.

Phils Blank Reds

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Dick Allen finally learned Wednesday night why Philadelphia is called the City of Brotherly Love.

The good burghers of that Pennsylvania metropolis, who have been accused of booing funerals, welcomed Allen back to baseball with three standing ovations. And the controversial slugger came through with a single his first time up as the Phillies blanked the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 behind Steve Carlton's seven-hit pitching.

"They showed me what kind of town this could be," said Allen, who spent the first six years of his career in Philadelphia and was one of the boobies' favorite targets. "I'd like to see it stay that way, and I think it will as long as I produce."

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4, the Houston Astros outslugged the Chicago Cubs 11-7, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4 in 11 innings, the New York Mets trimmed the San Francisco Giants 5-1 and the Montreal Expos edged the Atlanta Braves 5-4.

But baseball's eyes were on the 33-year-old Allen, who hadn't faced a major league pitcher in 248 days since his tearful "retirement" from the Chicago White Sox last September. After his first-inning single off rookie Pat Darcy, Allen fled out and grounded out before leaving in the seventh inning to rest a slightly sprained ankle. He handled seven chances cleanly at first base.

The 30,908 fans at Veterans Stadium roared every time Allen exhaled. They gave him a standing ovation when the lineup was announced. They gave him another when he made all three putouts in the top of the first inning. They roared as though he had just won the seventh game of the World Series when he singled in the bottom of the first.

Carlton handed the Reds their second consecutive shutout. Greg Luzinski singled home the only run he needed in the first inning, Larry Bowa delivered an RBI single in the sixth and the Phillies got their final two runs in the eighth on a double by Garry Maddox, singles by Luzinski and Tommy Hutton—Allen's replacement—and an infield hit by Carlton.

Cardinals 7, Dodgers 4
Ted Simmons' two-run double and Ken Reitz' two-run single highlighted a five-run rally in the third inning. Simmons' bases-loaded ground-rule smash that bounced over the left field wall brought the Cardinals from behind against Doug Rau. Reitz

Mustangs Rip Piketon

Westfall put on a display of plate power as the Mustangs rapped 11 hits and swamped visiting Piketon, 10-1, Wednesday in a Scioto Valley Conference game.

Gary Thompson led the attack with a two-run homer in the second inning and then added a single to the cause, Bill Hamman, Mack Dick, Kevin Reid and Craig Moore each rapped a pair of one-baggers while Terry Stevens slashed a single.

Moore started on the mound for Westfall with Chris Riddle coming on in the fifth to finish. They gave up a total of six hits, one walk and struck out 13.

Roberts went all the way for Piketon. In addition to the 11 hits, he walked seven and fanned eight.

The Mustangs tallied a lone run in the first, added two in the second, exploded for five in the third and capped the scoring with two more in the fifth.

Piketon's lone tally was scored in the top of the third frame.

Westfall played errorless ball while Piketon had two miscues.

Westfall is now 8-11 for the year, 4-2 in the league, and will host Teays Valley 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Colonels Seek 2nd Playoff Win

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels entered the second game of their best-of-seven series with Indiana tonight with a whopping victory under their belts and a determination to win their first American Basketball Association title ever.

The Colonels staggered the Pacers 120-94 Tuesday night in the series opener and expressed hopes of a repeat tonight. "I'm as hungry as I can be," said Kentucky's Louie Dampier, who contributed 22 points to the victory.

The 26-point victory margin was the second-largest in ABA playoff history, second only to the 28-point, 150-122 defeat Indiana handed Oakland May 2, 1969.

"We've played Kentucky well this season and we can play them a lot better than we did tonight," said veteran Pacer guard Billy Keller. "I know we're supposed to lose in Kentucky sometimes, but we shouldn't lose by any 26 points."

The Colonels weren't the only ones expressing determination, however. Keller said he believes the Pacers can win tonight, evening up the series before the teams go to Indianapolis for Games 3 and 4 Saturday and Monday.

followed with a drive off the foot of relief pitcher Rick Rhoden, capping the uprising.

Astros 11, Cubs 7
Doug Rader slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run blast in the seventh. Tom Griffin won his first game in six decisions but was replaced in the sixth when the Cubs scored two runs, narrowing the margin to 6-5.

Pirates 5, Padres 4
Bill Robinson singled home the winning run with two out in the 11th inning off Bill Greif after Dave Parker drilled a one-out double. The Padres tied the game in the eighth on a run-scoring double by Dave Winfield and an RBI single by Willie McCovey, who also blasted his fourth homer in the fourth inning.

Mets 5, Giants 1
Rusty Staub drove in three runs with a homer and single and Dave Kingman delivered a two-run double while Jerry Koosman pitched an erratic five-hitter. Koosman got himself in trouble several times by issuing eight walks but the Giants managed to score only in the third inning on singles by Derrel Thomas and Willie Montanez and Gary Matthews' grounder. Koosman struck out eight in handling the Giants their sixth consecutive defeat.

Expos 5, Braves 4
Pepe Mangual's run-scoring single capped a three-run seventh inning rally that gave Montreal a 5-3 lead. Gary Carter doubled with one out and moved to third on Barry Foote's single. One out later, Carter scored the tying run on Jose Morales' double. Foote scored on an error by Atlanta shortstop Larvell Blanks and pinch runner Pete Mackanin scored the eventual winning run on Mangual's single.

Tigers Trip Flaget, 4-2

Phil Roll hurled six-hit ball and slammed a triple to lead the Circleville Tigers to a 4-2 decision over visiting Bishop Flaget Wednesday.

The Tigers never trailed in the contest as they erupted for three runs in the bottom of the third and added a single tally in the sixth.

Bishop Flaget's two markers came in the top of the fourth frame.

Roll allowed one earned run, walked three and struck out seven to gain the win.

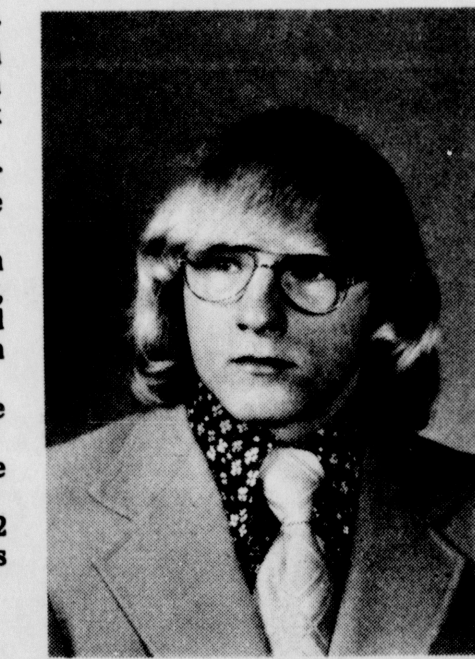

Carper and Bruce shared mound duties for Bishop Flaget, with Carper getting the loss. They gave up a total of six hits to the Tiger bats.

In addition to Roll's triple, Tim McNaughton slammed a three-bagger, Brent Mancini cracked a double while Randy Thomas, Jerry Strawser and Doug McGlone each ripped a single.

Circleville will be out to avenge an early season 5-3 loss to Chillicothe when they host the Cavaliers 4:30 p.m. Friday.

The Tigers are now 10-7 overall and 6-5 in South Central Ohio League play.

Top Trotters Set For SD Opener

World Champion gelding trotter, Savor, owned by the famed Allwood Stables of Far Hills, New Jersey, heads an impressive field of trotters in the $8,000 Inaugural Free For All Trot at Scioto Downs to open the 100-night 1975 night harness racing season in central Ohio Friday.

The handsome aged gelding will make his first start of the season at Scioto Downs, and the Star's Pride world record holder will face a field of top-flight tough competitors in his initial start.

Boasting lifetime earnings of slightly more than $713,000, Savor completed his 1974 campaign with a dazzling mile in 1:59 3-5 at Hollywood Park. During his brilliant career, Savor has been the toast of both the east and west coast. He holds the world record for both a half mile and five eighths mile track. As a 3-year-old, Savor won the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Kentucky for his lifetime record of 1:58 1-5. That same year, he zapped around Delaware, Ohio's half-mile oval in the world record time of 1:59 4-5.

Later in the season in 1971, Savor set the world mark for sophomore trotting geldings over a five-eighths mile track, winning the Colonial Trot in 1:58 4-5 at Liberty Bell Park in Philadelphia. With veteran driver Jimmy Arthur in the sulky, Savor finished second to Speedy Crown in both trips of the 1971 Hambletonian trotting classic at Du Quoin, Illinois. In 1972 Savor, set the World Record for 4-year-old trotting geldings over a five-eighths mile track, when he won the American National at Sportsman's Park in Chicago in 1:59. The veteran Ohio reinsman, Dick Buxton, will be in charge of the world champion Friday night at Scioto Downs when Savor pulls in behind Bud Jenne's mobile starting gate for the Inaugural Trot.

The George Sholty stable will make it's presence felt early this year with the entry of the gallant Dancing Party in the Friday night trotting feature. Owned by Sholty, Dale and Floyd Miller of Archbold, Ohio, Dancing Party will be making his first start of the year. With the talented Billy Herman in the sulky, Dancing Party won over $42,000 last year, and capped his sophomore season with a brilliant victory in 1:58 1-5 in one heat of the Kentucky Futurity.

Challenging the world champion and Dancing Party is Parlay R.C., the swift Floridan speed merchant, owned by Olaf Dahlstrom of Sweden. Trained and driven by Ben White, Parlay R.C. was the Ohio 2-year-old trotter of the year in 1973, and has already notched a victory in his first start of the year, taking the measure of a fine field in 2:03 4-5 at Lexington, Kentucky. He has a lifetime record of 1:59 3-5.

The "Queen of the Scioto Trotters", Keystone Mite, returns to the scene of her favorite race track Friday night. Owned by Robert Johns of Wooster, Ohio, and very capably driven by Thad McKee, Keystone Mite was the season champion aged trotting mare at Scioto for the past two years with a mark of 2:00 1-5. Last year, The Mitey Mite, established a new single season money winning record, banking over $36,000 in seventeen straight Scioto feature trotting events.

Making his first ever start at Scioto Downs is a new challenger, Moshannon Express, a rising new star from the Ray Romanetti stable. In his last start at The Meadows last week, Moshannon Express took the measure of a fine field of open class trotters in 2:03 4-5.

Another outstanding member of the free for all trotting class at Scioto returns Friday night with the entry of the powerful King Storm. Owned by Al Kerns of Stoutsville, Ohio, King Storm took his mark of 2:01 4-5 at Scioto, and has won in 2:07 3-5 over an off track at Lebanon Raceway this year.

Cook Cops Crown In California Golf Championship

The son of a former Circleville resident has won the 25th annual Los Angeles Junior Golf Championship.

John Cook, 17, is the son of Jim Cook who is vice president of Ontario Speedway and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Cook, 108 S. Pickaway St.

Winning is nothing new to the youngster who won the Junior World 14 and under championship when he was 14, at 15 he was the youngest player to ever qualify for the finals of the Southern California Amateur and he won the Southern California Junior title at the age of 16.

He will compete in the U.S. Junior Championship at Nashville, Tenn. and the California State Amateur at Pebble Beach.

John, a junior at Miraleste High School, is the No. 1 man on the golf team and his sister Cathy plays in the No. 4 spot on the same team.

Mike Reid Retires From Cincy Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Music can wait, football can't." The words were Mike Reid's in 1970 as he prepared to launch a National Football League career.

Having had his fill of football in five seasons, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Bengals All-Pro defensive tackle announced his retirement Wednesday.

"You could compare it to a man changing jobs. Like a teacher who decided to sell insurance. I'm well aware that the financial change will be drastic, but I'm willing to pay that consequence."

"I can't see myself starving to death," said Reid.

The 6-foot-3, 250-pound Penn State All-American told the Bengals, who made him a No. 1 draft choice, that he plans to form a musical group and eventually pursue a business career.

"My interest in music has grown in intensity over the past few years. The most important thing to me is music. I want to accomplish something in music," said Reid, who is an accomplished concert pianist and composer.

The bombshell drew surprised response from the Bengals.

"You just don't replace a Mike Reid," said quarterback Ken Anderson, the NFL's passing leader last season when the Bengals, hard-bitten by injury, slumped to 7-7.

"He's the quickest tackle I've ever seen," he added.

Bob Trumpy, another teammate, called Reid "a super athlete." He said Reid "couldn't get his mind right to play." Trumpy described Reid as "a free spirit who hated the regimentation of football. He abhorred training camp."

Ron Carpenter, the other starting defensive tackle who was sometimes lost in Reid's shadow, agreed with Trumpy that the announcement did not come as a complete surprise to many players.

"He's been saying it every year since he's been here. I roomed with him at the All-Star game in 1970 and he said then he was only going to play a year, then quit," said Carpenter.

Reid's loss leaves only Carpenter and rookie Bill Kollar as defensive tackles, raising speculation of a trade.

Coach Paul Brown said Reid's loss "will certainly hurt," but he added Kollar was made a No. 1 draft choice last year "for this eventuality."

Kollar, who started three games, had a sensational debut against the Oakland Raiders. "I hate to see him go, he helped me a lot," said Kollar. "I just talked to him a couple weeks ago and he said he was going to play."

Reid says he has no regrets. "Money was the last consideration. The physical thing got old," he added.

LE Is 5th In Mid State Track Meet

The Logan Elm Braves track team finished fifth in the Mid State League track meet at Lancaster Saturday scoring 44 points.

The Braves' 880-yard relay team of Dave Hulse, Wes King, John Eanes and Roy Duffey won, setting a Mid State League and a school record of 1:33.5.

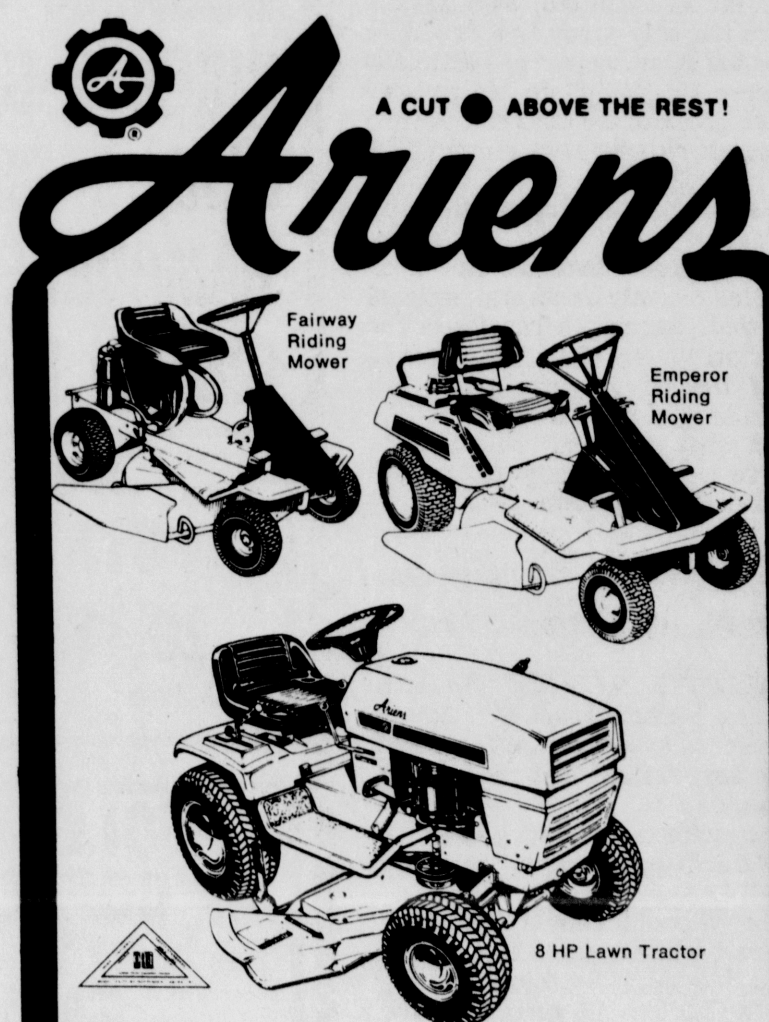

The meet was won by Fisher Catholic with 148 points. Bloom Carroll was second with 98 points, Pickerington third with 71, Fairfield Union fourth with 52, Logan Elm, Canal Winchester with 32, Amanda Clearcreek with 18 and Millersport with two. Berne Union and Liberty Union did not score any points.

In the 100-yard dash, John Eanes was second with a time of 10.5 and Roy Duffey fourth in 10.6. Dave Hulse finished second in the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.1 and fourth in the 220-yard dash in 23.7.

Roy Duffey was third in the 220 in 23.3. The mile relay team of Tim Davis, Randy Watkins, Randy McKay and Wes King was sixth with a time of 3:39.

In the discus, Brian Barr was fifth with a throw of 128 feet and Seth Driesbach sixth with a heave of 127 feet.

The Braves will compete Monday in the county track meet to be held at Circleville. Friday and Saturday the 880 relay team will compete in the district at Marysville. In addition, Roy Duffey and Dave Hulse will compete in the 220.

Warriors Top Bulls For West Crown

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors head into the National Basketball Association championship series the same way they opened the season, as decided underdogs.

"But if we play like this against Washington, we're going to give them a battle," said Rick Barry, whose 14 points in a fourth quarter drive Wednesday night led the Warriors to an 83-79 victory over the Chicago Bulls in the decisive seventh game of the Western Conference finals.

Washington's Bullets, who dethroned the defending NBA champion Boston Celtics to win the Eastern Conference title, will host the first game of the playoff finals Sunday in Landover, Md.

The Bulls were favored over Golden State, having beaten the Warriors in three of four regular season meetings, and the Bulls led the series 3-2 going into Game 6 last Sunday on their home court.

"We had our chance in Chicago and let it slip away," Bulls' Coach Dick Motta said. "We got a second chance here but just weren't up to it."

The Warriors, who won 86-72 with Barry scoring 36 points Sunday, trailed by as many as 14 points Wednesday night as Barry made just two of his first 15 shots. Their successful catch-up drive began late in the third period after Coach Al Attles had brought Barry to the bench for the third time in the game.

"I don't think I've ever seen a game more symbolic of team effort than this one. We got great performances from people who hadn't been playing much," said Attles.

"Then Rick got off and running in the fourth quarter, and that was the ball game," Attles concluded.

"Keith Wilkes kept us in the game," said Barry, praising the rookie forward who scored 23 points, one more than Barry's total.

Wednesday night's comeback victory was the third of the series for the Warriors, who trailed by nine before winning in Chicago Sunday and battled from 19 points back to win Game 4 here.

Chet Walker was the top Chicago scorer, with 21 points, but had only seven after the first half. Bob Love tallied 17 points, six under his average for the playoffs.

Duke Mum On MSU Investigation

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke has refused to shed much light on the Big Ten and National Collegiate Athletic Association probe of Michigan State University's football program.

Duke, at a news conference Wednesday to complete the conference's spring meeting, said only that the Big Ten began the investigation of MSU before the NCAA became involved.

He made no other comments about the investigation.

However, he said the Big Ten has voted to recommend to the NCAA that the number of football scholarships by 1977 be reduced from 105 to 90. He said the conference will recommend basketball scholarships be cut from 18 to 16.

"I want to point out that we are not adopting these proposals," Duke said. "But we have adopted action supporting them, or the most restrictive proposals that might come before the NCAA."

He said other steps advocated by the Big Ten to cut rising expenses will be to curtail off-campus recruiting and limit the number of campus visits by prospective recruits.

"It's either that or lose all sports," said University of Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham. "But at the same time, we want to protect our revenue-producing sports."

Twins Shut Out Cleveland, 3-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Those unidentified flying objects coming from the pitcher's mound sure baffled Boog Powell.

"I couldn't tell what he was throwing...it was some kind of a trick pitch," the Cleveland slugger said after sighting the UFOs from the right arm of Minnesota's Jim Hughes.

Whatever Hughes had up his sleeve sailed right by the Cleveland hitters Wednesday night and ignited the Twins to a 3-0 American League victory.

"Hughes is as smart a young pitcher as I've seen in quite a while," said Minnesota Manager Frank Pili. "He has a good assortment of pitches and the ability to change speeds, which should make him effective."

Hughes has been a shot in the right arm for Minnesota, since being given a chance to start because of the Twins' mound problems. Joe Decker and Dave Goltz, a pair of righthanders, have been sidelined for some time now due to illness and injury.

Since joining the starting rotation, the rookie has chalked up a 3-1 record, including three straight victories. Before Wednesday night's shutout, his first in the majors, Hughes had a strong, complete-game performance against Baltimore.

"I like to work fast," said Hughes, partially explaining the key to his sudden success. "I think it helps the fielders to stay ready."

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2; the Kansas City Royals trimmed the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and the New York Yankees beat the California Angels 4-3 in 10 innings. The game between the Texas Rangers and Milwaukee Brewers was suspended after 14 innings under the American League's 1 a.m. curfew rule with the teams tied at 2-2. It will be resumed tonight before their regularly scheduled contest in Arlington, Tex.

Hughes did a lot for Minnesota, but he didn't do it all. Rod Carew stole home for the 10th time in his career and Larry Hise and Bobby Darwin each clouted their fourth home runs of the season as Gaylord Perry, 4-5, suffered his third straight loss for the Indians.

Orioles 3, White Sox 2
Bobby Grich singled with one out in the ninth inning and Don Baylor slammed the next pitch from Chicago relief ace Terry Forster for a triple, lifting Baltimore over the White Sox. After being shut out for six innings on three hits by Wilbur Wood, the Orioles tied the score 2-2 in the seventh. Wood issued a leadoff walk to Tommy Davis, who scored on Baylor's two-out double short off the left field wall, about a foot short of a home run. Brooks Robinson then greeted Forster, 2-3, with a game-tying single.

Royals 4, Tigers 1
Vada Pinson drove in two runs with a homer and single and also doubled twice as Kansas City beat Detroit behind Nelson Briles' five-hit pitching.

Yanks 4, Angels 3
Bobby Bonds' bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 10th inning lifted Catfish Hunter and New York over California. The victory was Hunter's fourth in his last five starts and evened his record at 4-4.

Brewers 2, Rangers 2
The marathon game between Texas and Milwaukee was suspended under the American League rule that no inning can be started after 1 a.m. locally. The start of the game was delayed about an hour and 13 minutes by rain and then it took more than 3½ hours to play.

Milwaukee took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning off Texas southpaw Clyde Wright on Derrell Porter's two-run single. The Rangers tied it in the sixth. Willie Davis looped a double to left and Jeff Burroughs crashed another double off the right field wall, scoring Davis. Burroughs went to third on a groundout and scored on Ed Sprague's wild pitch.

No ABA Franchise For Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—American Basketball Association Commissioner Tedd Munchak said there will be no ABA franchise in Cincinnati next season.

Munchak, who was to own the proposed franchise, said he decided against bringing pro basketball back to Cincinnati following a closed door ABA meeting in Louisville.

John Y. Brown, owner of the Kentucky Colonels, said he would honor his contract with Cincinnati. It calls for the Colonels to play 13 games at the new Cincinnati Coliseum, which is scheduled to open later this summer.

Brian Heekin, owner of the American Hockey League franchise scheduled to open this season, and head of the group building the 17,000-seat facility, said he was not surprised. His group also owns 40 per cent of the Kentucky franchise.

Munchak and Heekin were at odds after Heekin demanded Munchak sign a 10-year agreement to keep the proposed ABA team in the coliseum. Munchak suggested that a Cincinnati group be formed to buy either the San Diego or Memphis franchises.

"As far as I can tell," said Heekin, "we're the only group that might be interested in buying part of a team and of course, we couldn't do that until we sold our share of the Colonels. So we'd be right back where we started," he said.

"It would be the Munchak thing all over again."

Heekin added that he has been contacted recently by several National Basketball Association franchises. The Cincinnati Royals of the NBA moved out of the city several years ago complaining of poor attendance.

"But what the heck," said Heekin. "You've got the same problem with the NBA and they cost more."

Bob Gibson Becomes Coach At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — In his 26 years as a football coach, Bob Gibson had served at every level but one. And now he has attained that one, a head pro coach.

He was named Wednesday as coach of the Charlotte Hornets of the World Football League.

The 48-year-old Gibson had been offensive backfield coach last season for the Memphis Southmen of the WFL. At Charlotte he succeeds Babe Parilli.

Dolly Saxbe In Love With India

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The only thing Dolly Saxbe doesn't like about India is its official animosity toward the United States.

The wife of Ambassador William B. Saxbe, back home from New Delhi for a visit, is enthusiastic about her new embassy home, Indian people, culture and food.

"We love it," she said. "We'd been there five times. We knew the house and most of the staff."

"The embassy is beautiful, airy, lacy, just a lovely house. The whole complex won an international prize in architecture, you know."

Not so pleasant, she said, are the anti-American headlines in the newspapers every day and the student demonstrators who gather frequently outside the embassy.

"It's really very hard for us to understand," she said. "We always think we're the good guys, but, as a government, we're not very popular in India."

While the official attitude seems to be, "we're India's biggest enemy, personally and socially they're great," Mrs. Saxbe said.

She said the Indians "were gleeful" over the fall of South Vietnam, delighted that the United States "got our comeuppance."

Mrs. Saxbe believes the attitude is partly due to the situation in Pakistan, a little of the "rich relative" reaction to all the humanitarian assistance the United States has given India, and a little "snobbery" left over from English rule.

She said Indians seem to still retain some of the supercilious British feeling about Americans.

"It's peculiar," she mused. "Most of them have children over here, either working or in school — and the children think America is great. The president himself has a son-in-law practicing medicine in New York and a son in medical school in Florida."

Mrs. Saxbe said the ambassador and she truly enjoy other aspects of diplomatic life.

She said the diplomatic community includes many old friends from Washington, and the Saxbes entertain about three nights a week.

They love the Indian curries, chutneys and spices, "but I generally try if we're entertaining to serve American food," Mrs. Saxbe said.

"I just have the idea we're a little piece of America in India," she explained.

Mrs. Saxbe returned to this country for the marriage of her oldest son May 9 in Philadelphia and to meet her new granddaughter, born April 28 to State Rep. Charles R. Saxbe and his wife in Mechanicsburg.

She plans to remain in Mechanicsburg until her husband arrives later this month to address the Ohio State University June commencement exercises.

Alaska May Liberalize Strictures On Marijuana

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — In a state where alcoholism is the No. 1 health problem, the Alaska legislature is on the verge of liberalizing marijuana laws to deal with what one lawmaker calls "the world as it really exists."

The house voted 21 to 17 Tuesday to remove criminal penalties against adults who possess any amount of marijuana for personal use in their own homes. In place of maximum penalties of $1,000 and a year in jail for simple possession, a $100 civil fine would be imposed.

If approved and signed by Gov. Jay Hammond, the legislation would make Alaska the second state to "decriminalize" possession of marijuana. Oregon adopted a similar law in 1973.

Details of the pending legislation have not been worked out, and a constitutional challenge to Alaska's marijuana laws may change the eventual outcome.

"The measure does, however, attempt to deal with the world as it really exists," said Terry Miller, the bill's main sponsor and former senate president.

Under various bills passed by both houses of the legislature, the small-time user of marijuana could simply pay his fine by mail if arrested. Most legislators believe a one-ounce limit may be placed on possession of marijuana in public places.

"Without question there has been a moderately high level of acceptance of marijuana among an important segment of our society," Miller said.

Possession of marijuana was reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor by the legislature five years ago. Still, more than 50 per cent of the drug arrests in Alaska each year are for marijuana possession or sale.

Alaska officials said 1,500 persons were arrested for marijuana possession or sale last year. Four persons were arrested for possession of heroin.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A Criminal Court jury that deliberated 30 minutes acquitted two men Wednesday in an alleged murder-for-hire conspiracy.

Freed were David Heald, 34, Indianapolis, and Merle F. Heinlien, 30, Danville. Each was indicted on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony, first-degree murder.

The intended victim was identified as Robert Balz, 44, husband of Heald's girlfriend.

SCOPS To Attend Portsmouth Presbyterian Church Event

The next meeting of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society, Inc., will take place Sunday, May 25 at the First Presbyterian Church in Portsmouth as part of the 158th anniversary of the church, located at Third and Court Streets.

The complete schedule of the anniversary celebration will begin with the 10:45 morning worship service, to which all SCOPS members and friends are invited. Ushers will use the original collection poles with wire loops and bags, as well as the short handled collection boxes initiated when the church moved into the present building in 1851.

The church is a superb example of classical revival. It is listed on the National Register, and a tour will be conducted after the service.

For SCOPS members and friends, after the tour an old-style picnic lunch in the downstairs fellowship rooms will offer sandwiches, relish trays home-made cakes, iced tea and coffee.

The SCOPS business meeting at 2 p.m. will be held in the church

Ohio EPA Announces Public Hearing

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency (Ohio EPA) has announced that a public meeting is scheduled to consider repealing existing state regulations dealing with compliance time schedules of air emission sources and adopting amended regulations with a new compliance date. The hearing will be held Thursday, June 12, 1975 in Hearing Room 2, Ohio Department Building, 65 S. Front Street, Columbus, Ohio.

The proposed revisions change the final attainment date of established air quality standards for particulate matter, sulfur oxides, carbon monoxide, photochemically reactive materials, hydrocarbons and related materials from July 1, 1975 to April 15, 1977.

The Federal Clean Air Act states the maximum compliance date for air pollution sources is three years from the date of approval of any state implementation plan. Although the Ohio Implementation Plan had been approved by the Administrator of the U.S. EPA on May 31, 1972, a subsequent decision by the U.S. Court of appeals for the Sixth Circuit vacated the Administrative Procedure Act. The Ohio Implementation Plan was again approved on April 15, 1974, thus allowing for a three-year compliance date of April 15, 1977.

historical room, and will include a study of the Scioto County Historical Society program of restoration and the districts being nominated to the National Register. The meeting will be short to allow time to tour the Boneyfiddle area and visit to the Boneyfiddle Bazaar, the home of the Scioto County Historical Society. The Scioto County task force will act as hosts and guides.

To conclude the day's events, from 4 to 5 p.m. all persons interested in restoration are invited to visit "Old Stone House", on Route 239, (Hill Road). Built in 1797, it was the home of Phillip Moore and the First Methodist Society in the area. Dr. and Mrs. Chaboudy are presently restoring the house. It is a candidate for the National Register and slides in color will be shown of it during the picnic lunch.

Banking Bill Passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill expanding the power of the state banking commissioner to deal with failing banks was approved 91-2 by the House Wednesday.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron, now goes to the Senate. Weyandt said the bill was prompted by problems the state encountered in the recent financial collapse of the Northern Ohio Bank in Cleveland.

The bill defines the superintendent's post, his appointment procedure, and provides him a four-year term.

It also makes the superintendent more independent of the state commerce director and clarifies his power to subpoena records; remove bank officers and take possession of failing, state-chartered banks.

Voting against the bill were Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, and Virginia Aveni, D-17 Cleveland.

Guns In Schools Becoming Worse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland high school principal told a legislative committee Wednesday that increasing numbers of high school students are packing guns into the classrooms.

Farley Seldon, principal of East Technical High School, told the committee of teen-aged girls slipping pistols into their purses as they leave for school.

He said one student ran home during recess to get a gun to protect himself because he feared he would be shot later in the day at school.

He told of a shootout between two students when one attempted to rob the other of a coat. The victim pulled his own gun from a pocket, but it misfired and his assailant shot him dead.

He told of a school security guard shot and critically wounded by a student with a grudge.

"In schools today, we have many firearms brought in, being used against not only students, but against staff," he said. "The problem with weapons in schools is a problem throughout this state, all over this country."

Farley said juvenile court and school board policies no longer deter students who want to tote guns in the classroom.

"Those that are juveniles know basically that very little will be done to them when they are found with a weapon," he said. "The deterrent is not there for students. We do need something very strong."

Farley testified in favor of a bill which would remove armed students from juvenile court jurisdiction and allow them to be treated as adult criminals. He also approved of a bill which would make parents responsible for their children's guns.

He said one of the guns seized recently at his school was from a girl who said her mother gave her a pistol and told her: "If anyone bothers you, use it."

"We must get the message across to parents as well as students that we cannot operate while these weapons are being brought in," he said. "We are not going to be fortunate enough to always receive a warning before someone is killed."

The bills also were endorsed by the Cleveland Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

"Guns in the hands of teenagers are a menace to society," said Mattie Reid of the council. "Fear is destructive, and we would like for our boys and girls to feel secure in their schools."

Millie Waterman of the state PTA organization urged the committee to give administrators the "proper legislation to work with, so that the majority of students do not need to fear."

Fairfield JVS To Offer Adult Classes

Fairfield Joint Vocational School will be more than a vocational high school serving 11th and 12th grade students. It will serve adults as well. The programs available for adults will include continuing education classes, preparation programs, and enrichment offerings.

Continuing education classes are offered to update or advance the skills of a person already at work in a field. For example, a secretary might take a course in new business machines, a welder might get training on a Mig Welder.

The Fairfield J.V.S. School Board has placed on the ballot for June 3, a multi-purpose levy to build the facility to house these programs. Immediately following passage of the multi-purpose levy, construction of the new building will begin. The adult program and high school program as well, would not be very long in starting.

Two Injured In Accidents

Two people were injured in separate traffic accidents Wednesday in Circleville.

James Fox, 22, 2065 Ottawa Dr., complained of a left leg injury after he lost control of his motorcycle 9:12 p.m. in the parking lot at Super Duper.

Fox told police that he turned into the parking lot from N. Court St. and couldn't avoid a large hole in the pavement that caused him to lose control.

William Boltenhouse, 22, 500 Commerce Dr., was not hurt although he was a passenger on the motorcycle.

Arthur Schlosser, 15, 223 Walnut St., suffered minor injuries 6:25 p.m. when he turned his bicycle in front of a car on Logan St., north of the Washington St. intersection.

The car was driven by Thurman Ramey, 35, 360 Logan St.

Police said Schlosser was "playing around" on the bicycle.

Fuel Clause Changes Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A fuel adjustment clause in utility rates may be necessary, but it should be a clause that consumers can figure and evaluate themselves, a joint legislative committee was told Tuesday night.

Utility customers testifying before the legislature's Joint Select Committee on Energy said a fuel adjustment clause, which allows a direct pass-through of fuel cost hikes, is a reasonable idea.

But they said the clause is too couched in technicalities, hidden figures and complex calculations to allow the consumer to judge it.

"The consumer receives no notice," said Dr. Karl H. Hertz of Springfield, a teacher at Wittenberg University. "No public hearings are held, no explanation of how the fuel adjustment clause was arrived at is given."

"The public is entitled to see the evidence and know how the rates are figured," he said. "The average citizen does not have any way by which he can know that he's being dealt with fairly."

Pat Nelson of Springfield, speaking for the Ohio Coalition of Utility Consumers, said electric rates "cannot continue to increase. But if they do continue to increase, they have to be based on facts, facts that the people can understand and accept."

Hospital Board Recognizes Employees At Annual Dinner

Mrs. Loretta M. Dumm was recognized Wednesday night as the Berger Hospital Employee of the Year. Annually, the hospital board of governors holds a recognition dinner for its employees and recognizes outstanding service with this special award.

Mrs. Dumm is a nurses' aide at Berger and has completed seven years as a full-time employee of the hospital.

She was given a certificate of recognition as the employee of the year which heralded her for her "dedication, and loyalty in striving to provide better patient care." Mrs. Dumm was also presented a gift provided by the joint efforts of the board of governors and the hospital staff.

The banquet was made possible by the board and a committee of employees. Mrs. Norma Gulick, chairman of that committee, presented the employee of the year certificate and gift to Mrs. Dumm.

This year, the banquet was held at the Elks Club.

Also recognized during the dinner were Paul Graffis and Mrs. Charles Eitel, 1974 retirees. Graffis had served on the hospital maintenance crew and Mrs. Eitel was a former medical nurses' aide. Both were given certificates for their several years service to the hospital. Mrs. Eitel was presented a barometer and Graffis received an electric sander as tokens of appreciation for their service.

The employee of the year is selected from a list of nominees submitted by the department heads. A committee of individual employees is then named to select the outstanding employee from the list of nominees.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE EVERTS NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY CHAPTER

Everts NHS Chapter Taps 33 Members

Thirty-three Circleville High School students were welcomed to the Everts Chapter of the National Honor Society during Tapping Ceremonies held in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

Parents, friends and members of the society presenting short speeches on the four-fold aspect of NHS.

Ben McDaniel served as the master-of-ceremonies with four members of the society presenting short speeches on the four-fold aspect of NHS.

In the speech given by Amy Curtiss, "scholarship is based upon the curiosity to seek and the imagination to use knowledge as it is discovered. It is a way of life which is neither restricted by or ended in school, but should continue all during a person's lifetime."

"Character," as told by Evelyn Howard, "is the quality or feature of a person which distinguishes him from others. It is thought of as moral excellence and strength, but it can mean simply the desire to help others. True character is shown through being honest."

Leigh Hritz added "that service is not just the big things one does, such as serving one's country, but it is simply a helpful or friendly action done for others. Real wealth comes to the man who has learned he is paid best for the things he does for nothing."

"A true leader is a person who knows about himself and has come to grips with his own problems and is capable of helping others with theirs," concluded Sue Holveck on the topic of leadership.

Each speaker then lit a candle representing the four qualities of a society member, which was placed around a fifth candle representing the society.

Each of the present members then went to escort new members to the stage. He or she would light the candle of fellowship and give it to the new member and introduce him to the audience.

Mrs. Ray Davis, a native Pickaway Countian and former CHS teacher was the guest speaker. She is a past state president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, a member of the Ohio Historical Society and editor of the Pickaway Quarterly.

Mrs. Davis made a summary of speeches given over the past year at the Monday Club in what she entitled, "spirit of 1776". She related the lives of past and present residents of Pickaway County and noted some of the great feats these people accomplished for the American Society.

In the group tapped in Wednesday's ceremonies were persons who will someday be the leaders of America, whether they be doctors, scientists, ministers, nurses, lawyers,
